Hylas - 56 – AQUATICUS

AQUATICUS

Aquaticus is undoubtedly the most highly specified Hylas 56 created. During build her owners were involved in every aspect from her layout, to her polished stainless toe rail. They wanted a fast boat that was beautiful to look at and functional in every way possible. Aquaticus stands out amongst other boats in her class and is easily recognizable even among her sisters. She is one of a kind, a true sailing yacht. The Hylas 56 was designed and built to replace one of the best cruising yachts ever built, the Hylas 54. Replacing a well respected model is always an incredible challenge for builders and designers. To build a boat that would be a little better in many ways but not sacrifice any of the exemplar characteristics that made the Hylas 54 so well loved was nearly an impossible task. However, the Frers office, combined with the efforts of owners and Queen Long Marine managed to create just such a boat.
